BACKGROUND

Law epitomizes the set of rules that are created and enforced through social or governmental institutions to regulate conduct of citizens. Law regulates and ensures that the community or individuals adhere to the will of State. In a way, it shapes the political, economical, historical and sociological aspects of a civilization. Since olden days, law is recognized as a noble profession in India and other advanced countries. It offers myriad opportunities of public service and governance. In India, we have top-class institutions providing education and training to would-be law professionals. The profession of law offers an individual, the opportunity for great usefulness wherever his lot is cast, for wide influence and for distinction in many ways. The complexities of legal system have created hundreds of career options in Law which serve a variety of core and non-core legal functions. From lawyers, judges and mediators to paralegals, secretaries and consultants, the legal professional's role is expanding and evolving so as to keep pace with the ever-changing legal system.
